MUSCLE V. MACHINERY.

The foundryman of middle age who reads the articles on the laying out of Engineers' Workshops will be reminded how the old order changeth, giving place to the new. How much machinery has done, and is doing, to lighten the burden of labour in the foundry cannot be truly realised by the youth who is being brought up in a modern shop, amply equipped with tracks and tackle, conveniently arranged storage, including machines, good boxes, and the rest.

We question if there is any department where labour is so serious an item as in the foundry. The money just runs away if muscle makes precedent of machinery. In this we are not thinking so much of the machines used in actual moulding, as of those incon-sidered trifles that have to do with the handling of material and of work-tasks that are mostly performed by unskilled labourers. This includes carrying moulding boxes, or in the case of those of large dimensions drawing them along on trolleys or even turning them over and over on their edges, tasks for which, from two to six, or eight labourers will be required; running in sand in barrows, and running castings out in the same manner. Tracks would avoid all this waste of muscle and time. In some arcade shops there are no means of loading up the cupola platform excepting by carrying bushels of coke up steps in baskets, and pig and scrap by hand.

Muscle has its legitimate place in foundries, but it is just doubtful whether that will not in time be reduced to a very small minimum.—Page's Magazine.

KIDNEY POISONING.

DR. WILLIAMS' Pink Pills get rid of Kidney Disease when it resists all other remedies. Most people have something wrong with the Kidneys.

No Poison is so insidious or kills so many people as the Poisons secreted in the Kidneys. Nearly one person in ten for instance, is entirely free from Kidney Poisoning.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS ARE FOR.
The duty of our kidneys, a pair of small organs situated in the small of the back, is to cast out, with the waste water of our food, certain impurities formed in the process of digestion. If these impurities remain in the blood they cause a dull grey-ness of the skin, sunken and brown-lidded eyes, intense depression of spirits, great thirst, loss of appetite, an unnatural aching for spirits (which are very bad for Kidney Disease), and a peculiar odour in the breath. The Kidneys themselves gradually become diseased; we have

THE CAPTURE OF SOKOTO.

Details have been received of the capture of Sokoto, March 14th, by the British column, commanded by Colonel Morland. The engagement lasted 21-2 hours. The British numbered about 500 men, with four quickfiring guns and four Maxim's. The enemy's horse and foot were estimated to number some 6,000 men, their riflemen being armed with modern rifles and using smokeless powder. The British camped during the night of March 13th a mile and a half from Sokoto, after a hard march of one hundred miles from Kaura, with but little water and having passed through a difficult country. At daybreak, March 14th, the British moved out in square formation towards the valley in which Sokoto lies. Immediately after they appeared over a ridge the Fulanis charged with fanatical bravery, undeterred by a withering Maxim and rifle fire. They had no proper leadership, but the isolated bands continued to advance over heaps of dead and dying, often only individuals reaching within a yard of the square, where, refusing quarter, they were shot down while shouting 'Allah,' with their last breath.

The main body of the natives was finally routed, leaving a remnant of about thirty chiefs around the Emir's great white flag. These chiefs were defiant to the last, and their corpses were found hedging the standard when the British entered the city, which consisted mostly of thatched houses. Its semi-circular walls extended seven miles round the place and were pierced by eight gates. A few days later the populace returned and the Fulanis tendered their submission to Commissioner Lugard, who arrived March 19th, and installed a new Emir. The British then retired towards the coast, leaving a garrison of two companies of infantry.

How to Stop a Cough.

A simple but effective remedy is the following: Breathing through the nostrils, inhale a full breath as slowly as possible without causing fatigue. Exhale the breath in the same manner and repeat the operation ten times. This will stop the coughing for about a quarter of an hour. Take a dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy during this time and the medicine will have a better opportunity to act and will speedily effect a complete cure. It always cures and cures quickly. For sale by all chemists and medicine vendors; WATKINS Ltd., General Agents.

THE END OF A GREAT OFFER.

The first announcement of 'The Times' offer in China of the Tenth Edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica at London prices, which are one-half of the Catalogue prices, was published some weeks ago. Unusual efforts have been made to direct public attention to an opportunity which is without precedent in this part of the world. If the Encyclopædia Britannica were not all that has been claimed for it, if it were not the best, and only comprehensive reference work of its class, if it were in any respect unworthy of the praise bestowed upon it day by day by the writer of these announcements, no amount of newspaper publicity in respect of this offer would induce people to accept it. Now, would 'The Times' have been able to find acceptance for its offer, at Home and in other parts of the English-speaking world, to the extent of 45,000 subscriptions for the Ninth Edition. But the fact is that everybody knows the Encyclopædia is a useful and instructive work, that its scholarship is unquestioned, and that of all books of reference, and of all books affording opportunity for general reading and study, this one can be the least dispensed with. In bringing the Encyclopædia to China, and in making so easy its acquisition by persons who would not, with other demands upon their purse, care to pay for it in a lump sum, 'The Times' has done everything that can be done to favour the subscriber. The work will, it is true, be sold for many years to come, but in the nature of things it can never be sold in China so cheaply as it is to-day, and until Saturday. The time has come when this exceedingly favourable offer must be withdrawn, and it remains for those who desire to try the book to decide whether they prefer to buy it now, at the minimum price, or to buy it at a higher price, after the offer has been withdrawn, and the prices advanced.

THE REVOLVING BOOKCASE.

It is a prime necessity of its very existence that the Tenth Edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica should be a work of simple proportion, a great library in itself. This means shelf-room, and shelf-room is not always available. By the especially constructed revolving bookcase of quartered oak, minimising the space occupied, and the volumes arrange themselves in it so that they can easily be reached. A limited number of revolving cases has been sent from London especially for subscribers in China.

TO POSSESSORS OF THE NINTH EDITION.

Those who already possess the 24 volumes of the Ninth Edition, (The Authentic A & C. Black Edinburgh Edition) can be supplied with the Supplementary volumes, 11 in number, at 40 per cent discount if they subscribe now. A limited number of copies of the Supplement has been shipped from London for distribution in China. Prior to their arrival forms and Prospectuses may be obtained on application to Kelly and Walsh, Limited.

The Encyclopædia Britannica 10th Edition, 35 Large Quartos.

26,000 Articles, 2,000 Contributors, 31,000 Pages, 614 Plates and Maps, 11,400 Illustrations, 40,000,000 Words of Text.

CASH PRICES THE SAME IN CHINA AS IN LONDON.

In order to effect a quick distribution of the 10th Edition, 'The Times' offers the work in China at London prices, less freight and landing charges paid as far as Shanghai or Hongkong. Cheques should be made payable as follows:—

To Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, to credit of H. E. Hooper, for either of the following amounts:— For the Cloth Binding..... $340
For the Half Morocco Binding..... $415 For the Three Quarter Morocco Binding..... $450 (This Binding is recommended both for its durability and beauty.)
For the Full Morocco Binding..... $580

Note:—The foregoing prices can apply only to the first impression of the New Volumes which 'The Times' has prepared in order to bring the original 24 volumes of the Encyclopædia Britannica up to date. An extraordinary demand for the Supplement has made it possible to offer the 35 volumes for considerably less than the prices at which they can be sold hereafter. More than 20,000 persons at home who already possessed the early volumes have subscribed for the supplement, almost all of them in advance of its publication, so that 'The Times' was enabled to make one consecutive 'run' on the printer, and thereby to effect a large reduction in manufacturing cost. Subscribers in China are for the moment, on exactly the same footing as subscribers in England, but orders should be registered promptly, as it will not be possible to guarantee indefinitely the acceptance of orders in China at the London prices with the additional concession of free carriage from London to Shanghai and Hongkong.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

The convenient and well approved system of acquiring the Encyclopædia Britannica by monthly payments has been tried by 'The Times' with great success, in all parts of the world, and it will now be extended to China. By this plan the subscriber pays $20 down, and $20 each month, on a given day, but he receives the entire set of 35 volumes upon receipt of the preliminary payment of $20. The number of monthly payments will vary according to the binding desired, as follows:—

$20 down and 17 payments of $20, for cloth.
$20, " 21 " $20, for Half Morocco.
$20, " 23 " $20, for Three-quarter Morocco.

(This is the special 'Times' binding, and can be recommended.) $20 down and 24 payments of $23 for the Full Morocco binding. (This binding is the best and the most beautiful and is as fine a binding as it is possible to make.)
By arrangement with 'The Times,' Messrs Kelly & Walsh, Ltd., have been appointed agents for the Encyclopædia, and are authorised to accept subscriptions at Shanghai and Hongkong. Specimen volumes in the different bindings may be examined at Kelly & Walsh, Ltd., and payments will be made to them each month, or for cash in full now.

PROSPECTUS POST-FREE.

For fuller information regarding the Encyclopædia Britannica, intending subscribers should not fail to apply for the illustrated prospectus of specimen papers. This large and expensively printed book will be sent post-free, or delivered by messenger, upon receipt of request giving full name and address of the applicant.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The political moves of RUSSIA and Russia are always well worth watching, even for nothing else than as a lesson in political astuteness on a grand scale. Whether at Belgrade or Peking, or in any one of the capitals of the world, the same double game of diplomacy is being played, and the same suspicions are being raised of the bona fides of the great Northern Power.
This is in strict accordance with the eternal fitness of things, because Russian diplomacy has for centuries been well known to be a pure game of 'bluff' and chicanery. Those of our readers who read the article from this Nova Zemlya, which we published in the issue of yesterday evening, would be not a little amused at the air of injured innocence assumed by that holsterer-up of Russian intrigue. The Nova Zemlya has been known for many years as an out-and-out blind supporter of whatever it is told to uphold. It could not exist otherwise, in face of the censorship which holds every free expression of opinion to be equal to a move towards the Siberian mines; and the first thing which strikes a freeman must surely be the smug tone of this hireling, giving forth its indignation as if it were a burst of freedom-loving independence and a strong sense of right.
Why, the miserable Nova Zemlya pen is firmly held and guided by the Russian official concerned, and the opinions there stated are not unofficial nor honest, but strictly official and dishonest. So that, in spite of the poor Nova Zemlya and their other officially-worked mechanisms—poor things, they do not yet know any better, but they will improve as intelligence advances!—we will continue to take the liberty of believing the Peking Correspondent of the Times, and of declining to believe the solemn assurances of the Russian officials and their newspaper puppets. In another column of last night's issue, a N.C. Daily News message appeared dated Tokyo the 12th of June, which read thus:—General Kuropatkin, Russian Minister for War, arrived here this morning and proceeded to the Shiba Detached Palace as the Emperor's guest. The Japanese papers heartily welcome him, but the leading journal, the Jiji, reminds him that Japan is a constitutional country where the Government must conform to the popular will, which was inclined toward an alliance with England long prior to that alliance being actually concluded, and which is now quite fixed as regards the Manchurian and Korean questions; whereas Russia's temporary occupation of Manchuria, being independent of the wish of the Russian nation, is easily terminable by the volition of Russia's statesmen. No one will doubt that the Japanese leading journals possess the faculty of saying exactly the right thing at the right time.
The Russian War Minister (of a great autocratic Power) could not have been more delicately reminded of the obstacles which stand in the way of smoothing over difficulties except by fair and open means, than he was by the Jiji. And General Kuropatkin has earned his place in the Czar's service by the possession and exercise of qualities which go to make the Russian political game a successful one. We cannot give the War Minister a higher testimonial.
The contents of our to-day's telegram from Kobe would seem to imply that the General, in his desire to avoid conflict, has actually succeeded in entering into a provisional agreement with the Japanese Government with regard to Manchuria and Korea. The assumption by Russia of considerable powers in Manchuria, does not, to our notions, matter very much, and if the new arrangement makes them provisional, the Japanese can be no worse off than before, perhaps better. We shall look with interest for fuller details. All the same, as we opened these remarks, so we close them. The ways of Russian diplomats pay well for watching.

Secret Expedition to Tibet.

The Toronto Daily Mail publishes a cablegram from London, dated May 17, which says that—The military clubs this week are filled with whispers of important secret military operations on the frontier between India and Tibet. Reliable information has been received that a large and mysterious expedition composed of native Indian troops, with a sprinkling of Tommies has been despatched under command of a noted officer. Gossip at the clubs is that the force is under orders to push on into the territory of the Grand Lama. Others say it is a menace to Russia. The operations are conducted with extraordinary secrecy. The officers and men forming the expedition are even forbidden to write letters home giving a clue to their destination. Enquiry at the India and War Offices in London is parried and no information is obtainable; nevertheless, it is stated the expedition is despatched, though the purpose is unascertainable. Reynolds Newspaper prints an alarmist story that a crisis, feared for years by statesmen and military men, is near; that India is menaced by Russia. Reynolds declares: The Government possesses knowledge in Asia, which may involve England in war. Reports from Gilgit on the northern frontier of India and Shikhar, on the Tibetan border, simultaneously state that 6,000 troops are being hurried from various Indian garrisons to frontier stations. Indian military officials are acting under instructions from London. It would seem Russia is approaching the frontier so close that the Government is very anxious about her movements. Rawalpindi and Quetta, the two advanced arsenals on the north-western frontier, have been overhauled; the garrisons doubled and mountain batteries added to their strength.

Sore Muscles.

THE correct treatment of sore muscles is very simple. First take a good warm bath before going to bed, and be sure to rub yourself dry. This opens the pores. Then rub Chamberlain's Pain Balm into the pores, keeping up a brisk rubbing for several minutes. If you have time when you get up in the morning, rub in some more of the Pain Balm.

This cures sore muscles caused by hard work or severe exercise of any kind.
Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the favorite rub-down of all prominent athletes. It keeps the muscles in fine shape. One application gives relief. For sale by all chemist and medicine vendors. WATKINS

Formosan Governor.

Baron Kodama, Governor General of Formosa, is expected to leave for Europe and America toward the end of this month.
He proposes to travel by the Siberian railway to London, proceeding thence to the Transvaal. He will return to London from South Africa and come back to Japan via America. It is expected that he will be away for about five months.

Girl Asleep for Five Months.

A curious case of lethargy in a pretty girl of seventeen, named Marie Daskalski, is at present occupying the attention of the medical world here, says an Athens telegram of May 17. The girl suffered from a chest affection, and being absolutely destitute was given a bed in the 'Frangheliassia' Hospital, where, when near recovery, she was so frightened by seeing a woman dying in the next bed that she lost consciousness, and has now been sleeping for five months and a half. She has since been removed to her parents' house, and awakes every five or six days, but falls asleep again almost immediately. She scarcely opens anything, sleeps with her eyes open, and appears not to hear anything. She is, however, very sensible in her waking moments, but at the slightest sound falls back unconscious.
Three influential papers have started a fund for her benefit, with the object of sending her to Paris to be treated there.

Wireless Telegraphy.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Daily Mail sends the following version of the views of Mr W. S. Fielding, the Dominion Minister of Finance, with reference to the Government's subsidy to the Marconi wireless station at Table Head:—
'We had expected that the undertaking would be a commercial success by this time, and are somewhat disappointed at the delay. But we have no reason whatever to doubt the ultimate success of the undertaking.' Mr Fielding stated in the House of Commons that messages had been sent from the station, but it did not seem possible to send them on a sufficiently large scale to warrant the company in undertaking a commercial business. 'But,' he added, 'we are as hopeful now as at any time, and from everything we have seen of Mr Marconi we have very great faith in him.' It will be noted that the above version is a marked modification of the version circulated by Laffan's Agency on Saturday afternoon.

Apolline Men in New Guinea.

The acting administrator of New Guinea, Sir Francis P. Winter, in a report to the Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia, describes a curious people who live in the swamps in New Guinea. They are called the Ahigambo, and have lived in swamps for a period which goes back beyond native tradition. They dwell in houses raised on piles about twelve feet above the surface of the water, which they traverse in canoes dug out of logs.
These they propel standing up with a pole. Sir Francis Winter describes two of the tribe—a man and woman—as follows: In the ordinary native the skin on the loins is smooth and tight, and the anatomy of the body is clearly discernible, but the Ahigambo man had several folds of thick skin or muscle across the loins which concealed the outline of his frame. On placing one of our natives, of the same height, alongside the marsh man, we noticed that our native was about three inches higher at the hips.
I had a good view of the man while he was standing sideways towards me, and in figure and carriage he looked to me more apolline than any human being that I have seen.
The woman, who was of middle age, was much more slightly formed than the man, but her figure from the waist to the knees was clothed in a wrapper of native cloth.

An Exile in Hongkong.

General Antonio Ricarte regrets his exile in Hongkong, says the Manila Times, and is very anxious to return to Manila. He is deterred, however, by the Filipino Junta at Hongkong, which is very anxious to retain him, for there seems to be some prestige in his presence and support. But Ricarte is moved by emotions that are both sentimental and practical, and in the end he will probably come, take the oath of allegiance and then get into trouble.
Ricarte is very homesick for Manila and on the practical side he has seen Isabela de los Reyes depart. Politeo, van der, Malint die, and Dominador Gomez go to jail, and there is a chance for him to become the leader of the malcontents. He has his revolutionary record, his long exile, and his refusal to take the oath, and they would all make excellent stock in trade for a leader.
He can start a party or union, create an underground of plotting, collect money, have a very good time, and get rich very quick. It is very tempting and not to be compared with exile in Hongkong, which is sometimes inhospitable, where the pickings are not always good, and the patriot must pay for what he eats, drinks, wears, and smokes. Ricarte meets nearly every incoming steamer from Manila and interviews such of his fellow countrymen as travel that way. He haunts the docks and when they come ashore he gathers them to his lone home on a boat, and at once calls a meeting of the Junta. To all he puts the question, 'May I take the oath of allegiance and return to Manila?' He seems really anxious to return and gets much encouragement from many of his countrymen, but Agoncillo, who presides over the Junta, opposes his plan and has succeeded so far in persuading him to remain. He has also written to Manila for advice as to the political effect of his submission and return, for like all patriots he has a hand on the popular pulse. The advice given to him has been conflicting and, like the love-lorn lady taking the petals from the marguerite, he hesitates in his love.

A Millionaire and Golf.

John D. Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, and probably the richest man in the world, has been cured of indigestion by the game of golf. Skimmed milk and crackers are no longer to be his diet. Not long ago he offered 'a million dollars for a new stomach,' and there were no takers.
It is further claimed that badness, the other affliction which harassed him, is fleeing before the great Scottish game, and that a few diffident and uncertain hairs are making reconnoitres on the exterior surface of his skull. Even his vanished moustache shows signs of a revival. All these wonders are directly attributed to golf; but the best proof that John D. Rockefeller is like other men is wanting—there is no sign of a drop in the price of Standard Oil.

Curious Disease Amongst Miners.

A telegram from Berlin dated the 5th ult. says that the coal mining industry in Westphalia is being seriously hampered by sickness among the miners, arising from an intestinal parasite, which has recently spread so rapidly that the sickness has become almost universal. Twenty thousand men are affected. Some of the pits have 50 per cent. of their workers disabled. The disease has hitherto baffled the doctors, and all remedies have failed.
Temporary barracks and isolation hospitals are being erected to prevent the spread of the disease and to enable scientific investigation. The parasite, which is a worm, disables the person attacked for weeks and sometimes months. The crippling of the mines is affecting affiliated industries.

China Inland Mission.

Sir George Williams presided at the annual meeting of this society on May 12, held at Exeter Hall, and briefly referred to the sad murder of two more missionaries belonging to the organization last year.
Including 2 missionaries who were martyred, 11 have died during the year, but 87 new workers (27 men and 30 women) had gone out, and 132 had returned after furlough. The total number connected with the Mission on Dec. 31 last was 763, of whom 716 were appointed to stations in China, 24 were still engaged in study, and 23 on the home staffs or unassigned.
There were 188 stations, 15 new ones having been opened last year, while 1,016 persons were baptised. The income received in London was £21,446, an increase of £5,033; in other countries nearly £20,000 more had been received, making a total of £70,765.
It is 50 years since the Rev. J. Hudson Taylor, who founded the Mission, first came to China, and Mr Theodore Howard read a letter from him in which he stated he had asked Mr D. E. Hoste to occupy the post of general director, while Mr Walter B. Sloan was to be the assistant director, and Mr Theodore Howard the chairman and home director.
Among the speakers was the Rev. J. J.
Coulthard, of Gan-hway, which place he described as the 'nursery of the Mission,' and declared that a day of tremendous opportunity was opening in China.
Mrs Montagu Beauchamp, of Si-chuen,
